

Talent Alliance Announces Re-Launch of Its SecurityJobZone.com Platform

AUSTIN, TX--(Marketwire - May 13, 2010) - Talent Alliance, Inc. (PINKSHEETS: TLAN) (<http://www.talentallianceintl.com/>) announced today the re-launch of their niche job board -- SecurityJobZone.com, an online career center specifically focused on security officer jobs, homeland defense positions, and other job related opportunities within the security industry. SecurityJobZone, a division of Talent Alliance, Inc., is re-focusing on technology as its core competency as part of this re-launch effort. Based on the fact that the global homeland security industry is continuing to undergo a massive growth pattern, the re-launch and new focus of SecurityJobZone addresses these increased needs in a much more expanded effort.

"This release and rebranding of our successful job board is just the first step of our major shift in focus to our technology offerings," said Jeremy Stobie, CEO of Talent Alliance, Inc. "The job market has begun to stabilize and now more than ever job seekers and employers are looking for streamlined solutions. We are investing our resources in providing the market efficient and innovative solutions that add value. This is the first of multiple major launches for our offerings, both in the United States and in China that we are planning for the coming year. We decided to begin with SecurityJobZone because of the large potential of its market and its existing page rank and number of unique visitors per month."

Estimates are that the global homeland security market is in excess of $55 billion annually, with over 30,000 companies doing business directly with the U.S. Government. Forbes expects this industry to grow to $170 billion annually by 2015, in the United States alone.
